

Perspective in Language and Thought

Instructor: Andreas Stokke

This course will be concerned with issues surrounding point of view and perspective, within philosophy of language, philosophy of mind, epistemology, and metaphysics. Some of the topics we will cover will be the special features of thought and talk about oneself, and where one is located in space and time, immunity to error through misidentification, and self-awareness in action. Authors we might be reading texts by include: David Lewis, John Perry, Christopher Peacocke, Annalisa Coliva, François Recanati, and others.